SAY HELLO TO OUR 2023-2025 COUNCILLORS

The Shire of Pingelly has welcomed a dynamic team of leaders for the years 2023-2025, shaping a promising period for the community. Newly elected Shire President, Jackie McBurney, and our dedicated new Deputy President, Peter Wood, are set to spearhead a fresh chapter in local governance. They will collaborate with experienced minds like Bryan Hotham, Karmvir Singh, returning Councillor Peter Narducci, and newcomer Clinton Cheney.

Jackie McBurney, assuming the role of Shire President, brings with her a vision of progress and community-first values. Her commitment to the betterment of Pingelly is underscored by her passion for inclusive governance and sustainable development. Working hand-in-hand with her is the newly appointed Deputy President, Peter Wood, whose strategic insights and dedication to public service are poised to make a significant impact on the council's initiatives.

Bryan Hotham and Karmvir Singh, through their diverse backgrounds and experiences, promise a well-rounded perspective to address the multifaceted needs of Pingelly. Their expertise and commitment to community welfare bode well for the shire's future.

Peter Narducci, a familiar face, brings a wealth of experience from previous terms, offering continuity and wisdom in council matters. His re-election reflects the trust and confidence the community has in his capabilities.

Clinton Cheney, the newest addition to the council, is expected to bring fresh ideas and a renewed energy. His presence is a testament to the council's commitment to inclusivity and representation of diverse voices within Pingelly.

The Shire of Pingelly is fortunate to have such a dedicated group of councillors who wholeheartedly prioritise the best interests of the community. Their collective goal is to nurture growth, enhance infrastructure, support local initiatives, and promote a thriving environment for all residents.

An Extraordinary Meeting is scheduled for February next year to finalize the council by filling the current vacant seat. This underlines the council's commitment to completeness in representation and ensuring that every corner of Pingelly's community has a voice in the governance.

The forthcoming tenure holds promise for positive change and progress within the Shire of Pingelly. As this new council takes the helm, the residents can anticipate a period of innovation, collaboration, and concerted efforts towards a brighter future for all.
